Bath kol

Bath Kol (בת קול), meaning “daughter of a voice” or “echo,” refers to a voice from heaven that serves as a form of divine communication, particularly in the absence of prophecy. It’s a unique concept where a disembodied voice, often described as a gentle or echoing sound, conveys God’s will or judgment.